

Angel Blessing for Children

Invite the angels in by saying, “Angels, please help me bless this child/my children.” If you are hoping to conceive, place your hands over the mother’s womb. If you have children, place your hands on the top of their head. If you are not with your children and you still wish to bless them, sit quietly and hold a picture of them.

Light a candle and say the following:

Angels, I ask you to bless this child. Help them to grow and expand and become all they have the potential of becoming.

I ask that this child exude vibrant health, pure joy, and openness. Let them know they are safe. Let them be fearless and expansive. Allow them to express themselves exuberantly, creatively and fully.

Bless their education. May they be supported by the educators in their lives. I ask that the educators work with this child in the way they learn best. May their educators be flexible with them while still providing a good solid educational foundation for their lives.

Bless this child’s spiritual connection. Let them always keep the inner knowledge that they are a precious child of God. Let them remain spiritually open. I ask that the adults in their lives respect their wisdom and innocence.

Bless not only this child, but all the children of the earth. I request access for all to education, food, pure water, and loving relationships.

I ask that this child be blessed with good, loving friendships and family members. May they find their true life path and life mission. May they find their perfect life partner. May all who meet them recognize the gift they are to the world.

I love you. I thank you. And so it is.
